The shape of 1973. The year of the topsy-turvy, crises, shortages, scandals and wars. The Arab-Israeli War broke out on Saturday, October 6, also Yom Kipper. The Watergate situation involving Republican break-in of Democratic Headquarters invaded the American scene. The question of impeachment of the Vice-President as well as the President was the popular query and a popular subject of debate. But it didn't stop there, by any means.

In a state of unrest

Less items, higher wages, earmarked the nation. Fuel, paper, beef, etc. began running thin and panic took its position in the U.S. atmosphere. Henry Kessinger, the United State's angel of peace was kept busy, especially in the oil producing nations such as Iran.

Scarcity of goods caused prices to soar which in turn caused cries for higher wages. People were being given discounts not to use their charge cards. The cost of living went up 7% in '73, 6% over that of '72.

Long lines for gasoline, and rationing commenced in December, much to the public's displeasure. Also, the dwindling supply of natural gas and electricity gave a blow to Americans who enjoy warm houses in the winter and cool one in the summer.

The mini-depression-recession defined the period as one of many readjustments.

They're not smiling anymore

the U.S. now

The pace must be slackened in the cars, the homes and the moneyspending. Speed limits were reduced due to shortage of gas. Price controls were set, postage planned to be raised as well as magazines and newspapers as soon as the controls are lifted.

The prediction of the copper penny being replaced with an aluminum one was made due to rapidly inflating price of copper.

The Geneva Peace Conference, delayed until after New Year's, then serious talk hoped to begin. A problem in the meeting, however arose when the Israelis demanded their prisoners of war to be released to them and many of them had been murdered, making prisoner lists smaller than expected.

This put more weight on Kissinger than he had anticipated. The tension was mounting.

Times prove hard

Still, the year 1973 had a few bright facts. Among these were no Vietnam war, or any other U.S. involved war. Cities are not in great turmoil. Although crime is still present, it is not on the uprise. In spite of increased prices, stores continued to be crowded and people willing to buy. Even though 1973 brought in hard times, people managed and held up.

Yes, we have no bananas, steaks, eggs, blue jeans, candles, gas, tennis balls, freezers, wheat, leather, air conditioners, fuel oil, pyjamas, floor covering, sardines, chicken, paper, hot water bottles...

Bring- ing back the '30's

Spirit week, September 24th to 28th, led to the homecoming game as students participated in the yearly tradition which consists of one week of fun.

"I enjoyed dressing up as a gangster or an Indian and making the most out of my last year, so I might have something to look back on and bring back memories," said senior Rene Casteneda.

"Spirit week is a good time to show the football players that we students are behind them all the way," said junior Dan Davis.

Student participation seems to increase as the years go by. For seniors, it is the last time they could express how much spirit they had at CHS.

Calumet students appreciate getting a few hours off from school to go over to the Cinema, sit back and relax, and watch a good movie, eating popcorn and candy, along with drinking a cold glass of pop. Three-fourths of the glass filled with ice. Those were the days.

Movies are held at least once a month. Said Paul Borlick, "I think the students should have some time for other activities outside of the daily routine of school-work."

"This form of entertainment is a good way to release our tensions and emotions" said junior Pete Chairmonte.

"For seniors, I think the movies give us an extra chance to be with our friends, get a few good laughs in, and make the most of our last year at Calumet because if we ever come back it would be like a visit and will never be the same again", said Irma Morales. "We can never turn back time."

Mixed emotions

Gas P.O.W.'s and tapes

The fall of 1974 was a time of dwindling gas, countless P.O.W.'s being reunited with their loved ones and continuous probing on Watergate and Nixon's White House Tapes. CHS students were very aware of these situations. The gas problem would effect them directly. The P.O.W. return and the Watergate situation was often a topic of classroom discussion. Whether pro-war or anti-war, kids overall were relieved and elated at the return of our Prisoners of War. The progress of the Watergate trial and demands for the President's telephone tapes interested students as they formed their own rational opinions.

The children now love luxury; they show disrespect for elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants, not the servants, of their households. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs, and tyrannize over their teachers.

Student solutions to the energy crisis

Sandra Traley: Senior

I feel the American Oil Companies should produce more oil to meet our demands.

Diann Gonzalez: Sophomore

We should have car pools and if driving 55 m.p.h. is going to help then we should do it.

Connie Scott: Senior

I don't think there is so much of a shortage as there is a panic at the thought of one.

Mark Smith: Senior

I don't think there is an energy crisis because the large oil companies just want to form a corporation and raise the price of gas.

Susan Davies: Senior

Everyone should reduce their driving speed and if possible do all your errands in one trip. Younger kids with licenses should ride bikes more instead of using the car for every little trip they have to make.

Out of gas . . .

YH: Mr. Dakich, this is your first year as principal actually you've only been here a couple of months, what is your reaction so far to the position itself?

Dakich: I will preface by saying that I was assistant principal for three years under, what I consider, one of the most outstanding principals in the area, Mr. Julius. I learned a lot by finding out really what some of the problems are that we have here. In regards to the principalship, I've been here I think three weeks today, yeah, that's it, three weeks today, I find the job very, very complex (Phone rings) excuse me. (Mr. Dakich gives his ok to a student to sell Halloween suckers) I have to say in the last three weeks I've enjoyed it immensely. There are some problems that a Principal has that I wasn't aware of and maybe that's what's the challenge. I think in this day and age, which we call the modern age, I think the principal has to be aware of the problems that the kids are having today. I think I'm adjusting to that, I have adjusted to that this past three or four weeks.

YB: Going back, what position did you start as in your public school career.

Dakich: I started here in Lake Ridge Schools when it was called the Metropolitan School District back in September of '59, which means I'm starting my fifteenth year. I started out as a Jr. High math teacher when this building was the Jr. High. I taught seventh and eighth grade math; Mr. Borlick and I came at the same time. From there I moved to the high school which is now Ridge Jr. High. I became director of distributive education where I initiated our first vocational co-op program. To be specific, the D.E. program which led to all similar programs such as health occupations, office education and industrial occupations. That was 1963 and I held that position for three years and remained at the high school as a business teacher and as freshman basketball coach. Then in 1969, when we went to two junior highs, Mr. Julius became principal of Ridge Junior High and I went over with him as Dean of Students. I stayed there for one year as Dean then Mr. Julius came here to the high school in 1970 and I came over as assistant principal and remained his assistant principal 'til October 3rd of this year, at which time he got a promotion to Director of Vocational Education and I was promoted to the principalship.

YB: Undoubtedly, the times have changed since you started as Math teacher leading up to principal and the kids have changed along with the times and what noted differences do you see from the people of 1959 to 1973?

Dakich: Without any question, the high school kids of today are more intelligent, if I may use the word intelligent, in all areas. They watch more television, see more movies, do more things, and probably one of the biggest things they've got going for them has to do with intelligence. They are more mobile today than they were in the past. Just check our parking lots.

I think it is good they move around a lot. I think it hurts the school in many ways, by that I mean it is very difficult to hold a dance any more because the kids get mobile and they may be having some kind of operation when they hop in their car and go to Valpo or they hop in their car and go to Hammond or a lot of them go down to IU, spend the weekend at IU, with brothers or sisters or someone. I think it is great. I think the kids are much more sharper today than they were in 1959. They want to do more things. They are, I think, much more patient today than they were. I think they want things done now. If I may be negative for a moment, I think that one of the things, one of the problems we have with the teenagers today, and I haven't said this to too many people, but it seems that when a young man or young lady falls into trouble here at school, by that I mean, caught ditching, caught stealing a fire extinguisher or something it seems as though that individual doesn't want to pay the price or suffer the consequences. He or she will say 'Oh 'give me a break. Jimmy Smith did the same thing and nothing happened to him. Barbara Smith did something similar to that and nothing happened to her. Give me a break'. I think that the kid deserves that if it is something minor, but in most cases they don't want to do that, they don't want to pay the price or suffer the consequences. They want to get off. I'm not sure what the reason for it is. I do know that we're not unique in that.

Calumet gets new principal

Summer school:

Summer school, what a drag. Or maybe it really wasn't all that bad.

To find out, Chieftain reporter Lennie Stitt was sent out to get the opinions of those who attended.

By far, the biggest gripe the students had was the time of the classes.

Sophomore Joy Clodfelder commented, "I liked it, but I had to get up at six to get there on time."

The most common class taken was Driver Education, which junior Debbie Simko said, was better than learning from your parents."

to get ahead.

In another vein, Lulu Blankenship, also a junior, said that the class was beneficial in that it helped her successfully get her license.

An interesting note about the summer session was the sight of new teachers from the Jr. High.

Along with the popular Driver Education class, were the regular academic courses as well as band.

Junior Larry Mohler, who took English and U.S. History, said he "enjoyed learning about the history of our country."

Faculty Opinions

In response to a Chieftain poll, faculty members indicated why the Calumet High School student is unique.

Teachers cited the following characteristics:

MR. GEORGE AHLGRIM: "The friendly attitude of most of the students at Calumet.
MISS FRANCIE BLANEY: "They are collectively as considerate as they are individually."

MR. CHARLES COLE: "Calumet students are cooperative and pleasant to work with."

MR. THOMAS DIMMOCK: "His or her individuality, uniqueness, lack of being pretentious."

MISS ZELLA DOTY: "I feel they are no different than any other teenagers."

MISS JOHNNIE McCRAY: "They are all different characters. Each one is unique."

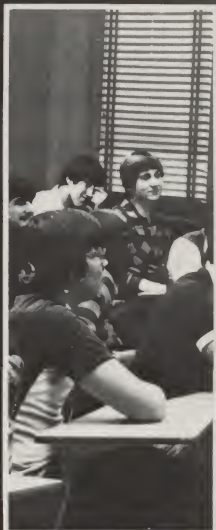

MISS ROBIN PAYNE: "Their ability to get along well and their effort to improve our school."

MRS. CAROLYN SIMONS: "Good Grief! He's searching for something to be proud of, (May not be unique)"

MR. DICK TRCKA: "Friendly."

MISS PAULINE YATSKO: "Friendliness - sincere effort to get along with staff and student body."

'73 grid season a disappointing time

In a reflective interview after the season, Coach Dick Trcka gave some insights as to the highlights and disappointments of the season.

He started off by citing the hassle of the team. He said they began practice on August 12, two practices were held each day with sessions lasting between one and a half to two hours.

"Needless to say it was quite hard and it made the practices tough. But everyone stuck in there and came through in good fashion", commented Coach Trcka.

He went on to explain that the practices were centered on two things, conditioning and fundamentals.

Coach Trcka told the Chieftain he did not expect too much of a better season.

He did say, however, that after a few games were lost, it left a psychological effect and may have cost them a couple of games.

Trcka credited some outstanding performances to Flemon Tarver, Tom Gill, Dan Jackovich and Ray Kljajic.

Calumet's football season this year was disappointing. The Warriors' record was 8-2. Regardless of its season, Calumet had three players as all-conference outstandees.

Tom Gill, Flemon Tarver and Ray Kljajic were named to the all-conference list with the other standout players from other schools.

Tom and Ray received awards for the position of middle linebacker. Flenon was awarded the defensive end honors.

In the coaches all-state picks, Dan Jackovich and Ray Kljajic received honorable mention. Dan was selected at defensive end and Ray chosen at the middle linebacker position.

One reason for the Warrior's dismal season was a result of injuries.

Running the season

Mr. Chris Traicoff, coach of the Calumet Warriors, reflects to the Chieftain the accomplishments of his team.

Chieftain: How do you feel about the CC team's performance this year?

Coach Traicoff: The team did reasonably well this year. The best showing was qualification for the regionals by finishing in third place out of eighteen teams in the sectionals.

Chieftain: How many returning runners do you have?

Coach Traicoff: They will all be back next year with the exception of Ron Harris, our only senior.

Alonzo Muro, one of the Cross Country team's fastest runners, comments to the Chieftain about his sport.

Chieftain: Alonzo, how intense were the practices?

Alonzo: They were hard as a whole, but fun.

Chieftain: Do you feel the team's season was successful?

Alonzo: Yes, for such a young team we had a very good season. We were all inexperienced, and for being such a young team, we did pretty well.

Chieftain: What were specific events?

Alonzo: I ran the two and a half mile course along with six others.

Malcom Rumba, a junior, is also one of the Cross Country team's better runners. He informs the Chieftain that even though he realizes the sport involves a lot of self-discipline, he feels he can do well in it because he puts his whole heart into it. Malcom and his team members run eight regular meets, plus sectionals and regionals. He expects to participate in Cross Country as a senior, also.

The GAA volleyball season was a disheartening one for the Varsity squad, but a little more encouraging one for the J.V. squad. The following interviews with Jan Ragsdale (J.V.) and Letha Smith (Varsity) were conducted by the Chieftain at the close of the season. Chieftain: Jan, how would you describe your opening season?

Jan: "We weren't too good when we started out, but we got better towards the end of the season."

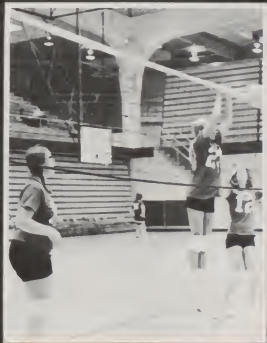

Chieftain: Who, in your opinion was your team's best asset?

Jan: "Sonia Harris who is a very good spiker and also Clare Seaberger." Chieftain: Letha, how would you describe your season?

Letha: "Poor. It really was. It was as if we lacked the confidence to win any games because the team was somewhat inexperienced."

Chieftain: What were your practice hours?

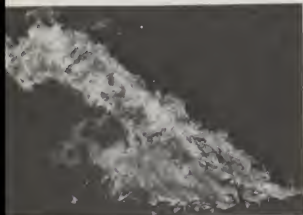

"We Practiced twice a week, but more often before sectionals."

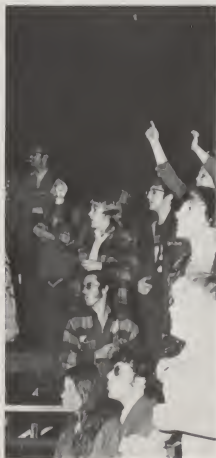

Spirit week is truckin'

September 27, 1973, Calment held the annual Homecoming bonfire. Mike Golley, junior: "The bonfire was sort of a dud. At the bonfire all you do is watch the fire burn, nothing else but watch it burn. It could of been improved by having a dance after the event instead of after the game.

Mike Wallon, senior: "It was interesting and up to smoke. A lot of people enjoyed and profited from it this year. It could be improved by having a bigger one, because it would be more exciting to students."

The spirit of '74

On September 27, Calumet had their annual homecoming parade. The following are opinions from Diane Goble and Lisa Stillabower, both sophomores.

Diane Goble: "I was on the sophomore truck with about 50 other students. Although it was raining, the parade turned out rather nicely. The student participation was acceptionably good this year, but the lack of student participation will soon have their art out of the homecoming events."

Lisa Stillabower: "I was on the pep band truck. I enjoyed playing and riding in the rain. The parade brings out the homecoming spirit in the students and should be handed down in years to come. I personally feel that the parade was very successful! I as well as others are looking forward to next years parade."

Cal players perform twice before spring

The Calomet Players have proved their acting abilities to the utmost this year. They have dramatized two plays, "Alice Twiddle and the Devil" (presented in the fall) and "The Girl of the Year" (an adaptation of O'Henry's short story presented for Christmas.) After many long hours of rehearsal with Mr. Paul Borucki, sponsor, they showed the student body their unique talents in the satisfaction of all who were present.

"The Girl of the Year" demonstrated the depth of their dramatic accomplishments. What made this production so unusual was that the Players put it on with no adult supervision. Ellen Haden, senior, was director. Though originally intended to be a dramatic play, a few comical surprises met with the approval of the student body.

Despite the enormous work involved, members are enthusiastic about the virtues of their organization.

Students ponder relevancy

In the past such organizations as the Cheerleaders and the Warriorettes were vital and integral parts of the student's life. But do they still possess their importance? Has the social upheaval of the last decade affected such All American Ideals as these?

The Warriorettes, although originally an accompaniment to the band, have evolved to a competent, entertaining group. With their growth, being a member has become a status symbol and competition to join.

A new practice has been instigated this year all Warriorettes must try out each year. Kris Klodzen, sophomore, commented, "With this policy, the girls must work all year round, not just when try out time comes."

With the rise of the recent Women's Movement, many institutions have re-examined their value. In an interview, Miss Robin Payne, Warriorette director, offered these views:

Q: With the Women's Movement in mind, are Warriorettes necessary?

A: Yes, we are giving the girls a chance to prove they can do something. Boys do this and that, but girls are girls and never get a chance to show they can do things, too.

Q: Are Warriorettes a direct contradiction to Women's Lib?

A: No, there is a choice to it. If that is what the girls want to do then it's fine with me. That's what liberation means.

Yolande Sanchez, junior, decided to become a Warriorette because she wanted to be active in the school and felt this organization would match her talents. She enjoyed it despite the work involved. She felt anyone who was a member benefitted immensely. For example, it would help one overcome one's shyness. The biggest problem, she felt, was keeping in shape, an essential part of this group.

Cheerleading is another organization which has long been a cherished American Ideal, with a cheerleader being held in high esteem. When asked if she felt being a cheerleader was a status symbol, Janet Laudien, senior, replied, "Maybe in years past, but I don't feel it is today. In answer to whether cheerleading is meaningful to the students' life. Miss Laudien declared, "Although many people would not think of cheerleading as being relevant to the students' life, I believe it would be missed if it no longer existed.

Cheerleading is a part of school, just like athletics. Without such activities the school would have no life."

First parent

During the 1971-1972 school year a new practice was initiated at Columbus High School. Called Parents' Day, it allowed the parents to see at first hand their children's school.

The procedure at Parents' Day agreed with all involved—students, faculty, and parents. The students arranged school a half a day in the morning. The parents arrived in time for lunch and had the opportunity to sample delicious cafeteria treats.

Later, the mothers followed their children's schedules, allowing them to observe for each class. During the afternoon for each

The Honor Society had a fruitful year in 1973-1974. The Honor Society, as the name suggests, is for those students who are above average scholastically. The necessary requirement for entering is to have a B average and to be a junior or senior, although a sophomore may also become a member. It is affiliated with the National Honor Society.

The main activity in which the Honor Society participated was selling candy during lunch hours and various extracurricular events such as the Mardi Gras and basketball games. The money earned is used for scholarships.

Annette Patterson, junior, has been a member of the Honor Society since her sophomore year. She enjoys being a member and feels she has benefitted from being active in this organization. It is her belief that others who wish to join would benefit likewise.

Commenting on the activities of the Honor Society, Miss Patterson said, "This year we participated in the Homecoming Parade, the Mardi Gras, and have also taken a field trip to the Art Institute in Chicago. We also had a banquet in May for the new initiates. There are fifteen current members (juniors and seniors). The number of new initiates is not yet known."

Organizations . . .

Clubs have been active at Calumet for many years. 1973-1974 was no different. Clubs such as the Ski and Biology Clubs and C-Teens participated in many activities. What cannot be overlooked, which made this year unusual, was the dissolution of a few clubs, such as the French and Homemakers Clubs. This raises a meaningful question, why does a person join a specific club? Is it because one is interested in the subject of the club, or because it is an active club - a club which participates in many activities, or perhaps because one's friends have joined. If the latter is true, it leads to the assumption that clubs are not all that they may seem to be. Yet what is the purpose of a club? The answer varies to the point where some feel the importance of a club is to make one more knowledgeable to the thought that it is purely a social function. A truly worthwhile club should be a compromise between these two extremes.

Some think he's a fake, a con man, a fat hippie or even a ghost.

Whatever the case, he is one of the most mentioned individuals in the world.

His name is Santa Claus (with alias tags such as St. Nick and Kris Kringle) and to find out what he's really like, the Chieftain sent an investigative team to his home at the North Pole.

"Come in, come in. Welcome to the North Pole. You can take your boots off right there by the door." That was his greeting as we arrived in early November. He was garbed in plain clothes smoking a pipe and peering through the top of his age worn spectacles.

"Can I get you some hot chocolate or coffee. I've got to find a better place for these maps. Martha give these young people some hot chocolate! You'll have to excuse the mess, we're getting ready for the busy season you know."

The interview was simple, Santa needed no formal questions, but kept rattling facts, facts, facts.

"Usually, we start rushing about this time. During the year, we keep an even flow of production. We try to get things like dolls, bikes and little cars out of the way first since they're the most demanded items."

He told the reporters that his job is to supervise the operation, and make sure the kids are behaving well.

After finishing the hot chocolate, Santa gave a tour of the toy factory. The building actually consists of three large buildings enjoined by a vestibule.

As to the staff, Mr. Claus said, "these are the finest elves in the world. They love kids and they really hustle to show it."

During his spare time, Santa likes to "watch TV, watch girls, and eat".

Besides caring for the kids of the world, he also loves animals and has eight of the best flying reindeer there are.

"Yep," he said with a tone of pride, "these animals are 100% healthy. They're quite a breed. That light over there is coming from Rudolph's stall. He's the dundest thing you ever saw."

When asked to explain his job and how he got it, Mr. Claus sighted intuition and love as the only thing to guide him and a sense of always giving is how his legend came to be.

That evening, supper was given in a room with one big table (short in length) and one tiny table to accommodate 100 elves.

The reporter left to the tone of, "now you make sure and come back and Merry Christmas!"

He's no con man.

The following is a famous editorial written for the NEW YORK SUN by Francis P. Church, September 21, 1897. The Chieftan staff would like to bring it to the hearts of its readers once again, hoping to share a touching moment of faith that one little girl had over 75 years ago.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of THE SUN:

"Dear Editor- I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in THE SUN it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

Virginia O'Hanlon
115 West 95th Street

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia . . .

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginia. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! He lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

A few inquiries were made as to what students associated with the words "brownie" and "rah". Here are a few responses:

Ira Sankowski: "A rah is anyone sitting at the first lunch table and being proud of it.

Dena Sowers: "RaHS are stuck-up and think they are better than anyone else. A brownie is someone who tries to get in good with the teachers.

Diane Gobla and George Greene share the same opinion.

Home Class was busy during the '75-76 school year in an effort to raise money for a variety of needs.

Home sold shirts, candy and key chains in an effort to raise funds. They also presented a play, "The Paper Drive."

"Home is making the most money," the school board chairmen feel from, concerning the activity.

A faculty vs. student basketball game was held on Friday, February 14 in the gymnasium during 10:00 hour to raise money for the class. The faculty won, but money collected for the class.

Kate Jordan, Hugh, Vicki Barker, Hugh and Bradford Park contributed to the paper drive," reported the first time.

Serving as officers for the class during the school year were Frank Triana, Blanche Widdows, Margaret Simon, and Charles Buckner.

'76 Blends in at CHS

The 1974 Chieftain staff conducted a survey concerning the first-year impressions sophomores have formulated in their first year at Calumet High School. The following are responses to the survey:

WAYNE TERRAZAS: "CHS is all right. I didn't trust the people at the junior high."

DEBBIE FIZER: "I don't like to come to school at all, but if I have to go, I like Calumet over any other school."

DEAN McKEE: "I can't stand school; hate it with a passion."

LISA SCOTT: "I think you can do your own thing at Calumet without worrying what others may say."

ROBERT WILKENS: "I like some of the teachers and going to the Cinema (movies sponsored by student council). I don't like some of the kids, though."

WALLY DJERICH: "You can do whatever you want compared to being locked up in other schools."

KLAUS BASSLER: "You've got more freedom, can do more things here."

KELLY CLEARY: "I think it's all right because it keeps you busy."

Pan Am and others busy

The Pan Am Club, was, as in the past, a very active organization. For the past 23 years, the members have participated in a variety of activities.

This years' sponsor was Mrs. Louise Vale, who is also the Spanish teacher. The club has 14 members and it meets during A clubs. The members pay $1 annually as dues.

The Pan Am Club has been active in such things as a Christmas party, taco party and the Mardi Gras; they had a taco stand and a ring throwing booth.

Carol Yeager, junior, felt the purpose of the club was, "to bring students with a common interest (Spanish) together, and to keep them interested in it.

Another member, Susan Cervantes, sophomore, feels she has benefited from being a member because she, "has met many new and exciting people through this club." Also she would recommend that others join, "If they want to become involved in a worthwhile organization."

Students question why

In recent years, much controversy has raged concerning the value of extracurricular activities, especially clubs. Calumet has a wide variety of organizations, dealing with subjects as broad as chemistry to skiing to those specifically concerned with the involvement of sports. It is debatable as to whether they are indeed a vital part of the school, although club members would sorely mourn their passing. What is unquestionable is how those involved benefit from cooperating on a common subject with others who share the same interest.

Where were you on that fateful day?

It was a busy, busy, time; a time for the words of beginnings and the losing of gains; a time for looking ahead and seeing behind. With sweaty palms and throat, with lumps, the tears of the sentimental flowed like rain from a cloud, whilst others, no less heartfelt, flowed inwardly to the center - blind, deaf, mute yet sensitive to the unknown. Understanding the parallel between fear and anticipation, dread and success, hope and failure, yet somehow not comprehending the total capacity of friendship and the impact of one defunct. As before death, years flow before the eyes, the resurrection of half-forgotten dreams. The moment of truth has arrived, or is it only another idea to plagiarize? The final step taken, the final answer, freedom (or, once again, another form of enslavement) is attainable. But how many will commit themselves?

1973 Ball success

On December 22, 1973, the Girls Athletic Association (GAA) sponsored its annual coronation ball, it was, as always, a tremendous success. The ball is unique in comparison to other social events held at Calumet as it allows the girls to invite the boys instead of vice versa — a very liberated custom.

It was held in the old gym, a tradition which dates from the first GAA Ball. Another tradition is the decorating of the gym by members of the Girls Athletic Association. The music was performed by the great Oxy, to the satisfaction of all involved.

Another tradition of the GAA Ball is the crowning of the GAA queen. This year's queen was Terri Nawa, Senior. The only qualification a girl needs to become queen is to be a member of the Girls Athletic Association and also to be a senior. The GAA members vote for the queen prior to the ball. This decision remains unknown until the night of the ball.

Miss Robin Payne and Miss Laura Baird, teachers and sponsors of the GAA served as co-mistresses at this formal partying.

The atmosphere at the early hour DJ set before and after was not one of the best. Approximately 100 students attended the party.

To say that the dance was not a success is to say that the people who were present at the time were not, who were not as enjoyable to see as past years. These people thought it would be the same, this year. Because one improved the party atmosphere, it was to give a girl the opportunity to be the dancer, instead of the boy. In general, it was considered one of the best years in the school.

Calumet takes

The Calumet Warriors have won the sectionals two out of the three years that Carl Traicoff became head coach. In winning the 1974 Sectionals, one has to remember Coach Traicoff hugging his players.

There are a lot of people who deserve individual credit, even though it was a team effort. John Bargfeldt cannot be overlooked with his super performance in the Merrillville game. Jerry Tauber played the three best games in his career. Ernie Harper was super great as usual. Mike Weldon and Eric Adams did an outstanding job on the boards.

'74 sectionals

The Warrensburg sectionals started play by receiving the Morrisville Pirates, in an exciting contest. The Pirates were defeated to take their sectionals loss and had to play the Warblers again. Steve Hopper led the team with 20 points in scoring.

In a scrappy game, Warrensburg played the Ladson Warriors in a knacker game to the victory 18 to 14. Steve Hopper, as usual, broke through for the Warblers' scoring streak.

In the second round, the Cafeteria team took control in a score of 67-55. Steve Hopper, again, led all scorers with 15 points. Steve Hopper played a fine game in scoring, grabbing rebounds, and blocking. Steve Adams also from Princeton, Missouri, scored 10 points. Warrensburg won the half game 30-14.

At the end of the game, Steve Hopper was named MVP. Steve Hopper was named MVP. Steve Hopper was named MVP. Steve Hopper was named MVP. Steve Hopper was named MVP. Steve Hopper was named MVP. In an interview with a Chieftain reporter, Mike Stamper gave some interesting insights as to what the term "basketball" meant at Calumet High School.

Mike was a forward on the Warrior squad and noted the early beginning basketball had with practice beginning in early September.

"In the beginning, we ran a lot, until Mr. Traicoff cut the squad. We started out with about 30 guys," said Mike.

He also mentioned how the early practices with the regulars focused on fundamentals.

As to the team, Mike stated "We were a pretty close knit ball club. We didn't have one outstanding team leader but pretty much pulled for each other."

An interesting aspect, was Mike's view of Coach Carl Traicoff. He said that Mr. Traicoff was constantly looking for new ways because he was never satisfied. Also, he takes good care of his ball players.

The six foot forward summed it all up by saying, "It's been a thrill working for Mr. Traicoff and I probably wouldn't want to play for anyone else."

J. V. pushes on

Sam Henry, starting forward for the junior varsity basketball team, stressed concentration in an interview with the Chieftain.

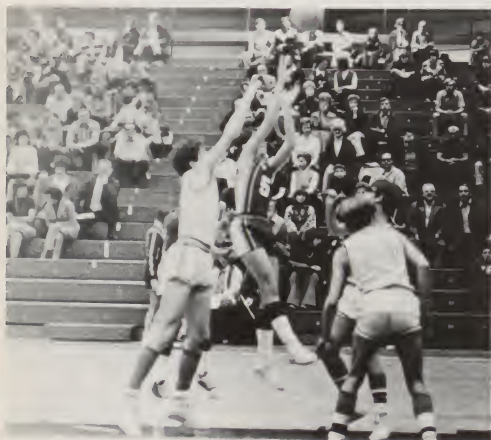

"I concentrate mainly on making the right judgements and decisions while playing."

While on the bench, Sam said he concentrates on morale.

Commenting on Coach Randy Harkabus, he said that he was a good coach. "Harkabus is a brilliant coach at this time and I think he will get better as he ages."

*What goes on
everyday*

Some thing everyday is a foreign entertainment, a wrestling match, track or golf meet, football, basketball or baseball game, student council meeting, awards banquet, club meetings, seeing a movie, having assemblies, dances, an auctioning for water-aver. Besides the regular old grind of the books, one could usually find some kind of activity, outside during school or after curricular, to suit his needs and desires.

Things didn't always go right, but those with patience and determination found success.

Routine life at C.H.S.

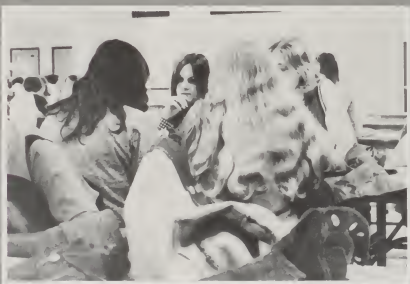

Truckin' down the halls, a visit from Mr. Vass and ladies meeting for a pizza burger brunch.

It's all a part of life at Calumet, a life which reflects a time to be bored, have fun, ditch, and remember.

Of course it's typical but it's life. It's a way to learn the way all clean cut American young people are pre-destined to learn.

Though some days may bring an assembly or movie, most days resemble a rut. Somehow that rut doesn't seem so bad, except in mid-February when being in a rut is a rut.

It sounds confusing because it is. No one can explain why we accept these "best days of our lives."

CHS stu- dents trained

Calumet recently faced a situation concerning the possibility of eliminating the vocational programs. To many students, this would have been disastrous, but the program was saved when enough students made their voices heard to retain the program. Training programs in secretarial work, nursing, mechanics, welding, and wood working are included in Calumet's curriculum for those who desire it. Students are not only taught a vocation, but what their wages and benefits should be if they choose to enter their particular field after graduating. Whether a student chooses nursing or truck driving, he or she will be well prepared thanks to the vocational programs.

Fashion frenzy

Cecil Wideman, sophomore, answered as such when questions were posed to her about styles: Styles have changed a great deal since I started Junior High, for instance blouses are in the layered look, there are bigger heeled shoes, darker shades in make-up for the girls, for the boys they have let their hair grow and are dressing more like men, also they look neater. Although the styles have changed from year to year the people haven't to a certain extent, because you are what you are no matter what you are wearing.

When questions were asked to Cheryl Holder, sophomore, the following replies were given.

Style streaking

Styles have changed alot since I began junior high. Clothes have gone from the hip huggers in the pants to the very high waisted pants. Also I've seen the transition from bells to cuffs in pants. Blouses have gone from the smock tops to the midriffs.

I think also that styles are returning to the past, girls are wearing dark lipstick and fingernail polish. Baggie pants, and longer hemmed skirts and dresses also show returning of the 1930's style.

It seems to the CHIEFTAIN that popular movies such as "The Sting" and "Paper Moon" are reflecting the tastes of fashion conscious consumers.

Yes, it seems that the "old" styles are becoming "new" and most people seem to be enjoying the nostalgic journey.

Ups and downs smiles and frowns

A typical day at Calumet is just as typical for teachers as it is for students.

An example of this is the schedule followed by Mrs. Barbara Sajda, English teacher.

"I usually get here early and go to my classroom to organize my daily plans. As far as daily routine goes, I have four English classes in a row." (Two of her classes are literature and two are grammar.)

During school lunch hour Mrs. Sajda spends time in the cafeteria getting lunch and then travels up to the lounge once again for coffee and chatter.

"Fifth hour is my planning period. Sometimes I stay in my classroom and grade papers or plan the next day's activities. On other days I'll go back to the lounge and have some pop and read a magazine. Sixth hour I have one final English class and then I go home," said Mrs. Sajda.

Thus is the day of a typical teacher with a typical schedule at typical Calumet High School.

Question: Does Education Play an Important Role in Your Life?

Mike Wilkowsky Sophomore,
No, I don't like getting up too early in the morning.

Starla Siewers Junior,
Yes, you need a good education to get a job. It would make my parents happy too if I graduate.

Valerie Rosewood Junior,
It plays an important role in my life because you need a good education to get along in the world. You also meet a lot of people.

Paul Wilkins Sophomore,
Yes, you need a good education to graduate and go to college.

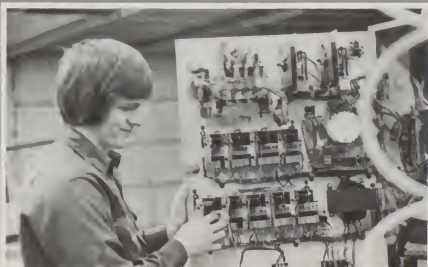

Little Lee Jackson Sophomore,
I want to be a doctor. At least I will get my diploma. "I hope!"

Markus Spotts Sophomore,
Yes, because I want to go to college. I would want to have a degree like mine when I graduate.

Students sing, laugh & play

A Calumet CHIEFTAN reporter questioned junior Ann Dunning concerning her schedule.

Ann explained, "First hour I have home nursing with Miss Frieda Gutzman. I have learned to make beds with and without a patient in them, and many techniques to care for a sick patient at home. I have learned a lot about business in stores from Mr. John Barath in Fundamental Physical Education, which I have second hour", she confided.

Ann added, "In my third hour class we do a lot of spelling and grammar in Mrs. Jackie Pauley's tenth grade class." I have 4AB lunch hour and I just "mess around" with my friends."

"For the second half of the day" described Ann, "I have art with Mr. Roy Wilson and I have learned to make many new and exciting things." Fifth hour I have eleventh grade English with Mrs. Nan Pelozo where we read many stories" Ann explained. Ann concluded that she has Mr. Milos Karagin's class sixth hour. "He teaches U.S. History where we learn the fundamentals of history." cited Ann.

Question: What is a friend?

Mike Jurov: Junior, A person to share you troubles with.

Jim Conley: Junior, A person that will stick through the good and bad times.

Kevin Owens: Junior, A person that will go streaking with you.

Diana Coates: Junior, Someone that's nice to you they are concerned about you and your problems. Really you can only have one good friend.

Renee Jones: Junior, A person you go to when there is no one else around. A person you can tell your problems to. Someone who understands you.

Becky Penick: Senior, someone you can trust and someone you can rely on.

Debbie Simko: Junior, A person that you can not only tell problems to but also share them with.

Miss Doty: Teacher, A person that you can confide in.

John Phelps: Senior, A person that will help you when you need it.

Brent Ewens: Sophomore, A girl.

Clara Seberger: Sophomore, A person you can trust with your secrets.

Sarah Flemming: Sophomore, A friend is a person that helps you in a time of need or a person that never has anything bad to talk about. A good friend is someone you can talk to and always discuss your problems with. A friend is not a back stabber. A true friend is like Miss Payne, who is nice and loyal and a friend.

Angela Brady: Sophomore, A friend is someone you can depend on no matter what. Ann Tubla: Junior, Somebody you can streak with all the time and keeps secrets from your parents. "Someone you can streak with in the grave yard."

Miss Simic: Teacher, A friend is a person you can share ideas and experiences with. Someone you can trust and talk over problems with. Connie Lyle: Senior, Someone you can talk to and trust. Someone you can share things with such as happiness, sadness, and joy.

Sharon Peek: Sophomore, A person that you can share your troubles with.

Mr. Dimmock: Teacher, someone you can share money with, and your problems with.

Rita Bell: One who is loyal and faithful. Someone who you can depend on to keep your secrets. A friend is also someone who won't betray you in the time that is most needed for that special friend. A friend is also a person who will not pick special people to be friends with.

Calumet grapplers enjoy fine season

Interview with two wrestlers who attended a wrestling camp during the summer of '73. The wrestlers are Pat Hale and Rick Kelleman (both seniors) who were in last year's regionals. TB: Where did you guys go to camp?

Pat Hale: Astella, Penn.

YB: Did the camp concentrate on teaching basic or more complex maneuvers?

Pat Hale: Just the basic stuff that we had never been taught.

TB: How long were you at camp?

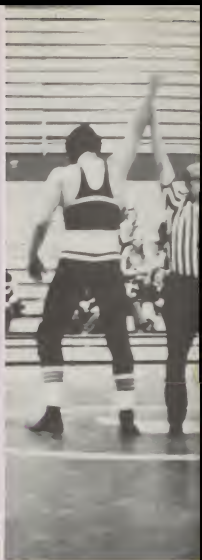

Pat Hale: Six days.

YB: How many wrestlers were there and did they come from all over the country or just the Midwest or what?

Pat Hale: There were 280 and they were from mostly the East Coast, but we were the farthest west, but there were guys from Kentucky and Michigan.

YB: Did you appreciate the week you stayed there or did you come back knowing no more then what you knew when you got there?

Rick Kelleman: I learned alot more really, Like Pat said they taught you the basics.

To be a school girl or a school boy is the profession of thousands of adolescents across the country. Daily, their main occupation is to be a teenager - no more and no less. This is a recent phenomenon. Adolescence has always been a time of growth and change; it is only in the past twenty five years that the American Teenager has emerged. Previously, one was either a child or an adult - there was no middle ground.

The American High School is unique among schools. In other societies, a school is strictly a place of learning. It is not so here. In our society, the High School has a social as well as educational function. Here, as in other environs, one meets friends but in this area it goes deeper. One's whole social life centers on the school.

The educators in favor of the American system of secondary schools feel the use of social and academic activities are essential in building character. Without these varied pastimes, a student would miss out of many opportunities for emotional and intellectual growth. Unfortunately, these activities are often abused. In these cases, the social aspects are overly stressed, leaving little time for academic study.

The question which is immediately raised is what is the purpose of school. The standard answer is to get an education, yet what constitutes an education?

Looking it over and remembering when

Local news was comparatively unexciting compared to national news. In middle Indiana, horrible floods devastated the area, leaving families homeless. Around the Calumet area, no monumental occurrence took place. The winning of the sectionals for Calumet for the second time in three years was the only headliner of any worth to its students.

Food and gas prices kept soaring, and people kept moaning. Nixon's tax scandal hit the news in early April as well as the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst, newspaper heiress, by an organization which calls itself the Symbionese Liberation Army. Novelities such as Tatum O'Neal, the youngest recipient of the Best Actress award gave something for people to talk about for a while.

Here at Calumet, Spring fever breaks out. After Easter vacation, things begin to quiet down. Students know they're in the home stretch now, trying to cross the finish line of the final day. Seniors who were lucky enough to go on the trip to the Bahamas, came back tanned and exhausted. For them, there was only two and a half more weeks left. The whole last semester actually is not a time of devout study.

The final few weeks for seniors is a time of concentration - on graduation and being through at last! Sophomores and Juniors, however, still have a long month to go yet, but are no less anxious to escape the halls of education. They are busy campaigning for next year's student council positions, class offices, trying out for cheerleading, Warriorettes, football, etc. Moving up is a great thought, and even nicer is the thought of not being the youngest or the middle anymore.

Throughout the past seven months, many things have been accomplished that students never realize have been so numerous. The football games, Homecoming, the bonfire and parade, the fall and Christmas play, GAA Ball, sectional championship, wrestling matches, Spring play, talent show, Choral concert and yet to come the Prom. These are just a few of the activities that have passed so quickly before us. For some, this is the last time for any of these activities, for others there are more of the same to come. Spring brings animals as well as people out of hibernation. At Calumet it is no different. Studying now is hopeless. The sun, grass and flowers take everyone over.

In an interview, Mr. Tricke gave some information about the varsity and junior varsity baseball teams. Mr. Tricke said that there were thirteen players on the varsity team and nineteen players on the junior varsity team. He said that the outstanding players on the varsity team were John Karpf, Mike Dachtel, Tim Gill, Bob Ryan, Rick Lowe and Tom Phelps. He also said David Goodenough, Danny Moore and Steve Dayoff are outstanding players of the junior varsity team. Coach Tricke stated that the varsity team had "very good potential" and the junior varsity demonstrated similar qualities.

Athletics!!

Catoport had some outstanding performances in track this year. Eric Adams, Mike Stamper and Jerry Brakely qualified for the regionals. Eric Adams and Mike Stamper set the record at the La Porte Relays in the 120 yard high hurdles. Jerry Brakely set a school record in the discus throw.

Other outstanding performances include Florence Turner doing a second in the conference in the long jump. In the pole vault, Randy Winder and Bill Watkins scored in every meet. They consistently vaulted at twelve feet and twelve foot six inches.

for school band*

Underrated band has new uniforms

An often underrated group, The Calumet High School Band, had one of its most active years in 1973-1974. One of these activities was the purchasing of new uniforms, the first in 15 years. They consisted of red and white jackets, red pants with white stripes, and tall, red, furry hats. Those involved with the Band worked diligently in order to raise money. Members participated in tag days and numerous other activities.

When asked if she felt the band was underrated, Janet Targett, sophomore and band member, commented, "Quite often the band has performed successfully yet there was hardly any or no recognition from the faculty and students. When the Warriorettes performed, who notices the band? But without the band, the warrior-ettes could not perform. The band should be recognized by everyone for its fine performances."

Activities

Tension, excitement, and shattered nerves. All characteristics of the cheerleading tryouts. Questions such as, "Are my pigtails even? or Does my hair look all right?" bounce back and forth amid the collection of girls. Roundoffs, cartwheels, jumps and splits are practiced diligently an hour before the event begins. Eventually, a few students begin to wander in until a sizeable crowd gathers to spectate the annual ritual. Then the judges begin to make their appearance and suddenly every cheerleading hopeful manages to paste big smiles on, which is just one of the many unwritten laws, if she hopes to make a favorable impression.

Tryouts — a rough game speech directed to the onlookers is delivered. "Now these girls are nervous, so please be quiet!" Next, one hears, "Hi! My name is . . . and I go to . . . school.

My first cheer will be . . .!" These words are thrust out with a burst of enthusiasm. The cheer begins, followed by jumps, cartwheels and splits. A glance at the pencils which decide the fate of each girl are either scribbling frantically or lying dormant. Then that particular girl's turn is over and a final look at the judges may or may not reassure her. "Number Two!" The process is then repeated right on down the line. Each girl takes her place in front of the panel and hopefully receives a some sign of approval, depending on the information she has just dispersed. Loud heartbeats and trembling limbs invade each girl as her number is called.

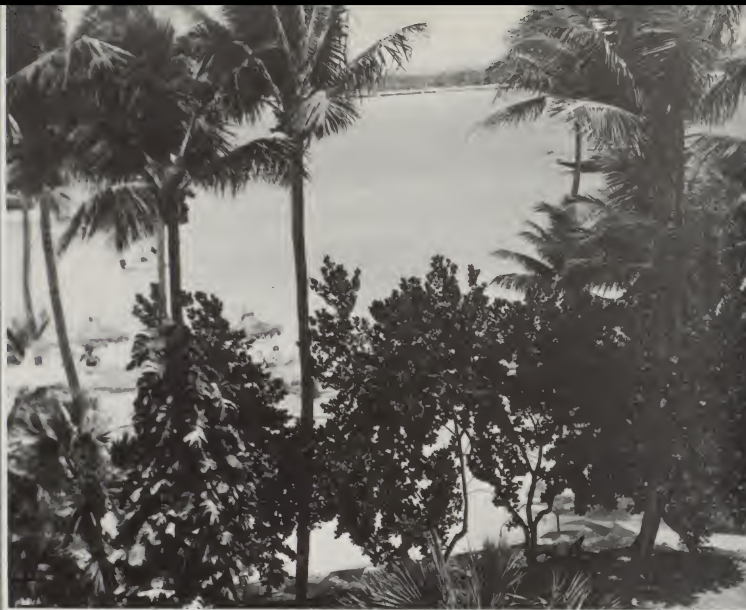

Two or more hours have passed and the already dwindled audience gets up to leave after the ritual has ended. A relief-stricken, yet still unnerved group of girls leaves the gym to await the anticipated results. Although the results can usually be predicted by most, the official announcement is made the following day, giving the girls a long night to hope and worry.

Next day, the announcement is made, leaving some jubilant, others heartbroken. The ritual will be repeated in the same form next year and the year after. Girls who failed may try next year for the chance of being on the squad or may pass on that opportunity to those who can brave that sort of thing. It's a tough game to play.

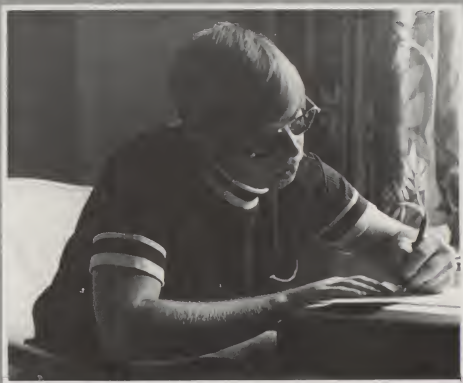

Easter vacation was spent in the Bahamas by 69 members of the senior class for the senior class trip.

They stayed seven nights and eight days at the Sheraton British Colonial Hotel.

The students spent their days touring, boating, deep-sea fishing, scuba diving, dancing, sight seeing and taking advantage of the non-restricted drinking laws.

Graduation finally comes Calumet High School's commencement was held on Tuesday May 21, 1974 in the fieldhouse. Two hundred and ninety-four seniors left CHS as the alumni from the class of 1974.

The co-valedictorians were Jerry Tauber and David Banning with Janis Zimnowoda as salutatorian.

Speeches were heard from class officers, co-valedictorians, salutatorian and honored guests.

About an hour and a half later, after diplomas were passed out, it all ended with the traditional turning of the tassels from the right to the left.

*'74 staff 'faces'
the camera's eye or . . .
yearbook staffers strains and stamina*

ELLEN HUGHSON-A senior and third year staffer, Ellen served as editor-in-chief of the '74 CHIEFTAIN. She previously served as head of the advertising section. Ellen found her job difficult, but hoped it would prove rewarding. Ellen's legacy to future CHIEFTAIN editors was the motto: Photography is the bitter fruit of life.

LAURA NIMETZ-Junior Laura Nimetz devoted her talents to the student life section as its editor. This was her first year on staff and she found it challenging. She was one of the most devoted members on the '74 staff.

LENNIE STITT-Sophomore and first year staffer, Lennie worked on the student life section as reporter. Her interest in student activities made her an experienced worker in that area.

DAN PETRO-Dan was a second year photographer for the staff. He served as head photographer. The helpful photographer once volunteered his keys to Miss Blaney (adviser) until she could find hers.

FRANCES "I'm having a nervous breakdown" SPEED-Fran worked as a reporter for both the organization and student life sections. As a sophomore, Fran proved to be an excellent worker.

VICKIE MCCARTHY-The CHIEFTAIN staff welcomed back Vickie for her second year. She was a senior and worked on the senior and underclassmen sections. Her dedication to her work was a great asset for the yearbook.

SHIELA DRAKE-A junior, Shiela worked on the student life section of the yearbook. She was a main staff interviewer and a devoted worker. She also provided many of the headlines and completed the index for the book. Perhaps, Shiela could have been overheard exclaiming, "My 'stars' the index is a time consuming assignment!"

JIM HAINES-Although only a sophomore and a first year staffer, Jim proved himself to be an excellent reporter on the sports section. He was one of the most hard-working members of the yearbook staff. The staff does hope that Jim has not developed a bad back from moving the typewriter from one room to the other.

Mark Roscoe - (UPPER CENTER) Mark's first year on staff as a sophomore was spent as layout editor. His constant interest led him to the position of editor for the '75 yearbook. Perhaps Mark's greatest asset was his ability to communicate. Mark was once overheard explaining, "You don't overburn on a reverse or reverse on an overburn, but you can reverse out of 60% black or

... Letha Smith - (CENTER) - Letha, a senior and staff photographer spent her first year working on numerous assignments as well as printing and developing pictures. She plans to continue on in the journalism field, but fellow staffers believe she should pursue a career in light-room walking. Linda Pickens - (TOP RIGHT) - Linda's first year on staff was her senior year at Calumet. She worked on captions and layouts of the CHIEF TAIN's pages. Linda once explained the relevance of yearbook to other subjects in school by stating, "Planning a yearbook is a little like planning a wedding reception. I look nothing about either. Dorcas Radtchott - (BOTTOM CENTER) -Dorcas's second year on staff was as editor of the senior and underclassmen section. Last year as a junior, she worked on the Organizations section. She displayed a great deal of knowledge and skill both years on staff.

Gayle Lynch - (BOTTOM RIGHT) A former newspaper staff member, Gayle joined the yearbook staff her junior year, which was also her first year. Her way with teachers led her to the position of editor of the Faculty section. She liked to be able to "put them in their place" as to speak.

Bau Peacock - (NOT SHOWN) - One of the veterans of the CHIEF TAIN, Bau, a senior, spent his previous two years on Sports section. He held the position of advertising manager this year. He also displayed journalistic and reporting excellence. Bau's advice to the staff members having difficulty editing was included, "If the guy won't buy an ad, make him an offer he can't refuse."

Jan "Butch" Lukowski - (NOT SHOWN) - Jan was a senior and spent her first year on staff in the copy and caption department. Jan also composed a great "crack group" in the room with her "sisters" in the Sports section. Mike Ramack - (NOT SHOWN) - Senior Mike Ramack was a copy editor and reporter for all sections of the '75 yearbook. This was his first year on staff, and his attendance record was outstanding during this time. He refers to it more accurately as "standing out." Kent Wakers - (NOT SHOWN) - Kent has served on the yearbook staff as one of its most dependable and patient photographers. He spent his senior year as his first and only year. Kent often lectured the staff on everything they ever wanted to know about photography, but couldn't come-less to ask.

Annie Garfield - (NOT SHOWN) - Annie, who worked on the sports section, completed her first year as a junior working on the CHIEF TAIN. Her interest in sports, male and female, led her to her position on that section.

Ruth Page - (NOT SHOWN) - Ruth or "Ruthie" as she is more commonly known, was the yearbook's typist her senior year which was her first year on staff. Because of the vast amount of typing to be done, a rapid typist was needed, leading the staff to turn to her talents. She was a key staff member.

"THE STREETS OF OUR COUNTRY ARE IN TURMOIL. THE UNIVERSITIES ARE FILLED WITH STUDENTS REBELLING AND RIOTING.
COMMUNISTS ARE SEEKING TO DESTROY
OUR COUNTRY. RUSSIA IS THREATENING US WITH HER MIGHT.

AND THE REPUBLIC IS IN DANGER.
YES-IN DANGER!

FROM WITHIN AND WITHOUT.
WE NEED LAW AND ORDER. WITHOUT LAW AND ORDER OUR NATION CANNOT SURVIVE.

-Adolph Hitler

Silence screams out

When I hear the word
'close', I think of a definite ending. Ending means emptiness. Locked doors, naked trees, lonely weeds in the grass. Stopping to think about this though, I realize I don't like that thought, so I want to change

it. This is the closing page, but I'll pretend it is the opening page. In a way it is, because my life is just now beginning.

the 1990s, the number of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia has increased by 20% (Meltzer et al. 1997).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The World Health Organization (WHO) has developed a 'recovery approach' to mental health care, which emphasizes the importance of helping people to achieve their full potential and to live meaningful lives (WHO 1993). This approach has been adopted by many countries, including the UK, and has led to a number of initiatives aimed at improving the lives of people with mental health problems.

One of the key initiatives in the UK has been the development of 'recovery-oriented' services. These services are designed to help people to achieve their full potential and to live meaningful lives. They are based on the principles of the recovery approach, which emphasizes the importance of helping people to achieve their full potential and to live meaningful lives. Recovery-oriented services are designed to help people to achieve their full potential and to live meaningful lives.
